

Come to the Taping of "Late Night Saturday with Tim Kavanagh" on April 17

The April 19, 11:30 p.m. segment of "Late Night Saturday with Tim Kavanagh" on WCAX in Burlington, will feature the Northeast Kingdom. Kavanagh, a 1984 graduate of North Country Union High School in Newport, has invited three of his former classmates of 1984 to appear on the show. They include Loranne Turgeon of Gray, Maine, who worked as a screenplay writer following graduation, including in Hollywood; Steve Wheeler of Westfield, owner of Jed's Maple Products; and Scott Wheeler (no relation to Steve), publisher of Vermont's Northland Journal.

Joining the gang from 1984 is their junior high guidance counselor, Lynn Berry. She and her partner in music, Emily Nyman, will provide musical entertainment.

Taping for the Northeast Kingdom segment will take place at Alumni Auditorium at Champlain College in Burlington on April 17 at 7 p.m. Tickets are available at Alexandria's on Main Street in Newport, or by ordering online at Ins@champlain.edu. Tickets are free and available first come, first served.
